

This week's thoughts

1. Unused treasure frustrates the carrier and robs him of the pleasure it carries. If you have not found your career you may not have the courage to face the barriers you come across in your race of life.
2. You may have the best product on earth and still not be able to sell it. It is not what you know about your product that guarantees good sales but what the customers know about it that does.
3. We cannot expect people to start patronizing our Gospel message when we are not willing to start advertising it.
4. Why watch the world live in Darkness when God has made you the light? Why care not if sinners get condemned in hell when God has made you a witness? Why act as if all is well when your loved ones are dying of disease?
5. You haven't started living as a believer until you die to self and start living to make a difference in someone's life. Remember, life is all about sharing and caring. Share the Good News with someone you love to show you care. Acts 1:8
6. The Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ is free of charge, it however takes money to transport it and reach the world with the message we preach and takes affluence to influence people.
7. There is enough money for all the inhabitants of this world. If you die a poor person do not blame anyone. People are poor not because they do not have money but because they faithfully and consistently practice the things that make people poor.
8. Where there is no vision the people will perish and where there is money the mission will flourish Prov. 29:18
9. If you want to experience the release of God's authority through your life, be subject to His set authority over your life and watch obstacles vanish before you.

10. You can choose to disregard, disrespect and disobey your parents in the Lord today; Do not blame God in future for not raising a standard against the devil, when he comes up against you on every side to devour.

11. No one in the entire world can stop you from releasing your potential, realizing your dream and reaching your destiny when you obey God's set laws.

12. Many there are that can say thank you in words. But very few have learnt the secret and power of saying thank you in deeds.

13. It says more to say thank you with a little substance than to do so with great eloquence.

14. Love that is not demonstrated cannot be easily reciprocated. The gift you don't appreciate depreciates in its ability to bless you.

15. Having sex outside marriage is a deliberate choice to trade the glories of tomorrow on the laps to today's momentary pleasures.

16. Sex is a blessing when used within marriage and a curse when outside marriage. Say no to premarital sex now and protect your destiny.

17. You cannot see the release of God's power through your life to heal the hurting world around you when you are doing nothing to activate the latent dynamite within you.

18. It is not the proclamation of your transformation that the world is waiting for, but it is the manifestation of your son-ship power that is their earnest expectation.

19. Fishes do not attend concerts at arenas, nor do they gather at crusade grounds, and do not attend church revival services. If you want to be a fisher of men, cast your net in the sea of sin where the sinners are and you would see the cross hook them, and watch the blood wash them clean.

20. Expansion can be expensive but if you are prepared to count the cost and pay the price you would enlarge your coast.

21. If you want to have fish at home be prepared to go fishing at sea.

22. Rather than bother or wonder whether you would make it or not down your journey of life, learn to cover your father's nakedness even when he presently acts irresponsibly. The world would stand in awe as they behold God's glory manifested through you.

23. God never tells us to do anything He has not already given us the ability to do. He does not send us anywhere He has not already made available the means to get there. He won't tell us to cast all our cares on Him and fail to meet all our needs

24. Our Father in heaven has already provided for all we would ever need on earth. It is time to trust Him no matter what you are going through.

25. When you murmur because of a rumor, you will have yourself to blame when the real truth is revealed.

26. The person you are fighting against today may be the vessel God has prepared to deliver you from trouble tomorrow. Don't allow a rift to rob you of your gift.

27. Anytime you are walking in rebellion your eyes are blinded from seeing what is ahead, leaving what is behind and enjoying the present.
